CREWQ TEAM SET TO COMPETE IN UDO WORLD STREET DANCE CHAMPIONSHIPS IN THE UK

Qatar, June 2025. CREWQ: THE CONQUEST CONTINUES – The CREWQ Team, representing the prestigious MFEC Street dance School, is thrilled to announce its participation in the UDO Worlds Street Dance Championships in the UK this August. Comprised of the most talented students from the school, the team will compete in the U8, U10, and U12 Beginners categories completing with our support group the Parents Team.

Under the visionary leadership of Team Director and choreographer Aristotle Hernandez, the team has crafted dynamic pieces that embody the strength and power of hip hop. Their choreography brilliantly blends various foundations of street dance, including afro, lite feet, femme, k-pop, house dance and breakdance, showcasing the team's creativity and dedication to the art form.

The CREWQ Team has been diligently preparing for this prestigious event, engaging in intensive training sessions with renowned masters of street dance styles from around the globe. This preparation not only enhances their skills but also fuels their hopeful spirit as they aim for victory at the championships.

"We are incredibly proud of our team and the hard work they have put in to reach this level," said Aristotle Hernandez. "Our goal is to inspire and showcase the true essence of street dance while representing Qatar on an international stage."

As the CREWQ Team gears up for this exciting competition, they invite supporters and dance enthusiasts to cheer them on as they embark on this remarkable journey.

Profile:

ARISTOTLE HERNANDEZ - Visionary Movement Artist, Choreographer and Community Uplifter in Qatar

Biography:

Aristotle is a dynamic and influential figure in the world of street dance and hip-hop choreography, known for their innovative style and commitment to uplifting the dance community in Qatar. With a passion for movement that transcends borders, Aristotle or Coach A has dedicated their career to creating a vibrant network of creative expression and talent within the region.

Mission:

Driven by a vision to elevate the dance community, Coach A focuses on fostering collaboration among dancers, choreographers, and enthusiasts. Their mission is to establish Qatar as a worldwide hub for talent in street dance, promoting cultural exchange and artistic growth. He believes that dance is not just a form of entertainment but a powerful tool for storytelling and community building.

Artistic Approach:

With a unique blend of hip hop, afro, and contemporary dance styles, Aristotle's choreography emphasizes individuality, creativity, and connection. They strive to create pieces that resonate emotionally with audiences while showcasing the diverse talents of dancers. Their work often reflects the rich cultural tapestry of Qatar, incorporating local influences and narratives that speak to both personal and collective experiences.

Community Engagement:

Coach A actively engages with the local dance community through workshops, mentorship programs, and collaborative projects. By providing opportunities for aspiring dancers to learn from seasoned professionals, they aim to nurture the next generation of talent. He also organizes community events and showcases that highlight the achievements of local artists, fostering a sense of pride and unity within the dance scene.

Achievements:

Throughout their career, Aristotle has gained recognition for their contributions to the dance community, both locally and internationally. Their work has been featured in various competitions, festivals, and showcases, earning accolades and respect from peers and audiences alike.

As a passionate advocate for the power of dance, Coach A continues to inspire and uplift others through their artistry and community initiatives. With a commitment to creating a thriving network of creative movement, they are poised to make a lasting impact on the dance landscape in Qatar and beyond.
